FENCE- Fighting against Gender Bias and Contributing to Equity Online Learning Platform

The FENCE Online Learning Platform is now available!!

The FENCE Curriculum and its online training course aims to train users on how to identify and tackle gender discrimination in the workplace. The Online Learning Platform offers the opportunity to trainers and other stakeholders to explore a wide range of gender issues, participate in learning activities to find out what does the course offer, your feedback on online trainer platform is important for us to improve and share the free resources widely.

FENCE local events and final conference in the UK

To disseminate the project, events will take place from September to November 2021 in each partner country to share what has been developed through out two years of the project. Partners are, 2 UK partners, DCVS and INOVA, Greece, Italy, Cyprus, Romania and Spain. The events will include the Review/research paper developed, the training material and online platform covering gender equality topics as well as Guidebook for trainers with useful information.

The target groups include NGOs, local groups, adult education providers, individuals, policy makers and municipalities. Final conference will take place in the UK on 4th October 2021. It will be a half day event and Sneha Khilay the speaker on Gender Bias will be the major highlight of the Event.

Next Phase of the project

Methodological Guide for Educators:

During the last year, partners have been working on the FENCE Curriculum and the Online training, what has been developed in two phases will be transferred into a guide for trainers, along with online platform the guide will provide additional guidance on how to best use the resources developed.

Policy Book with recommendations:

The FENCE Policy Book will include recommendations, gaps highlighted during the research and how the policies could be improved in the future to address this topic. The purpose of the Policy book is for each partner to approach policy makers to address gender equality issues, stereotypes and Spotting discrimination and gender training to name a few.

Partners from each country will be looking at how to sustain the project results beyond the lifetime of the project especially online training platform. The Open Education resources will be free to use for anyone!
